

Photo by RICK DEWITT

On Saturday, Feb. 7, from 4 p.m. to the wee hours of the following morning, many City Islanders congregated at the Alehouse for a virtual "clam bake" to celebrate the virtual victory in the curbed.com online contest to determine New York City's best neighborhood. Free beer samples and hot wings, live music, and neighborhood conversations made the event a great success. The hosts are pictured here (l. to r): Paul Sciara of the City Island Beer Company; Amanda Betsold, owner of the Alehouse; Hana Alberts, senior editor of Curbed NY; Sara Polsky, features editor of Curbed NY; (back row) Dan Srdoc, owner of the Alehouse; Anthony Grillo, general manager of the Alehouse; and Teddy Montee of DJK Residential, which sponsored the party.